

Author Instruction of Burapha Science Journal

Manuscript Preparation

1. The author prepares the manuscript according to the Burapha Science Journal Template (with the reference format as the Name- Year System according to international standards) and fills out the manuscript submission form. The manuscript template and the submission form can be downloaded from the Burapha Science Journal website (<https://science.buu.ac.th/buuscij/>).
2. The submitted manuscript must not have previously been published in any journals or other publications. It must be neither under consideration by another journal nor with any part of the same content as other articles.
3. If an author wishes to use materials such as images, graphs, and tables from other journals or publications in the submitted article, evidence of permission to use those materials is required.

Manuscript Submission

1. The author can submit the original manuscript for publication in the Burapha Science Journal by registering on the website <https://science.buu.ac.th/buuscij/>.
2. The manuscript must be submitted via the E-Submission system only. After registering, the author can proceed to submit the manuscript at "NEW SUBMISSION".
